

Invitation to Clinical Research in CPFT: A one day workshop

You are invited to attend a one day introduction on how to conduct clinical research studies at CPFT on Friday 22 November 2019 from 8.30am-4.00pm at the Herchel Smith Building. This training is relevant for anyone who is planning or running a clinical study, and it's an excellent opportunity to learn more about the start-up process and the ongoing support on offer. On the day, you will be introduced to all the key contacts who can support you throughout your study. This is intended to be useful for clinical researchers working with CPFT, as well as PhD students, postdoctoral scientists and other health staff interested in research.
